LOW DOSE IMMUNOTHERAPY INFORMATION AND INFORMED CONSENT

Low Dose Immunotherapy (LDI) is a treatment for increasing immune "tolerance" of an overactive immune system. Allergy and autoimmunity represent an alteration or overactivation of appropriate immune tolerance. LDI retrains the immune system for specific antigens, thereby decreasing overactive immune response and decreasing symptoms.

This type of immunotherapy was discovered in Great Britain in the 1970s and called "Enzyme Potentiated Desensitization" (EPD). The technique utilized very small concentrations of antigens along with an enzyme, beta glucuronidase, which helps educate the T cells involved in the immune response. This treatment was brought to the US, but in the early 1990s the FDA stopped the importation of EPD. At this point, Dr. Shrader reproduced the mixtures of EPD and called them LDA. LDA originally used antigens causing certain allergies and the technique was later expanded by Dr. Vincent to treat various autoimmune conditions using a variety of different antigens, called LDI.

LDI is not approved by the Federal Drug Administration (FDA), just like vitamins and other herbal supplements. LDI is currently classified as experimental treatments and as such, we do not bill for antigen mixtures, only our time and supplies.

PROCEDURE

Patients will first undergo a history and physical to determine if LDI is an appropriate therapeutic technique. Often lab work will be done prior to LDI therapy to help guide therapy. LDI doses are given by administering a small drop (less than 1 ml) of the antigen mixture under the tongue. Doses are typically repeated every 7 weeks, as needed, but "booster" doses can be given as soon as 2 weeks, based on response to the first dose.

AVAILABLE ALTERNATIVES

I am aware of various alternatives to treat my condition(s). Alternatives may include: pharmaceuticals to treat condition; vitamins and supplements to treat condition; dietary and lifestyle modifications to improve condition; interventional procedures such as IV therapy or steroid injections, or electing to do nothing to treat my condition.

POTENTIAL RISKS (SIDE EFFECTS) AND BENEFITS

There is a risk of a flare in your symptoms for 1 day or more after LDI treatment. Often, if a patient gets a flare of their symptoms with an LDI, the flare will become less with each subsequent treatment. If a patient experiences a flare with LDI, it means we have chosen the correct antigen, but the dose is too high (this is a good thing!). If a symptom flare becomes too much to handle, a course of Prednisone can be prescribed to alleviate symptoms.

You may benefit significantly from LDI treatments. Possible benefits include: total relief of your symptoms, partial relief of your symptoms, or reduction or elimination of previous medications used to treat your symptoms.

PREGNANCY

LDI is generally regarded as "safe" during pregnancy; however, LDI has not been extensively studied in pregnancy and so the effects on pregnancy are unknown. As such, it is your choice to continue LDI during pregnancy.

COSTS

LDI is not FDA approved and is not covered by medical insurance. Your provider visit can be billed to insurance; however, you will be required to pay for the cost of the LDI therapy received at the time of service. All patients receiving LDI therapy are required to have a credit card on file. The cost for each dose is $45. If you have requested an LDI be drawn by the office and you are picking it up, our office will allow one week before your credit card is charged. We ship outside of Ada County and will charge the current shipping rate, or within Ada County for an additional $20 handling fee.

DISCONTINUATION OF TREATMENT

I am free to discontinue treatment at any time, without prejudice, or when I feel I no longer require LDI therapy.

INFORMED CONSENT REGARDING NUTRITIONAL SUPPLEMENT AND FUNCTIONAL MEDICINE LABORATORY TESTING

According to the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, as amended, Section 201(g)(1), the term drug is defined as an "article intended for use in the diagnosis, cure, mitigation, treatment, or prevention of disease." Technically, vitamins, minerals, trace elements, amino acids, herbs, or homeopathic remedies are not classified as drugs. However, these substances can have significant effects on physiology and must be used rationally. In this office, we provide nutritional counseling and make individualized recommendations regarding use of these substances in order to upgrade the quality of foods in a patient's diet and to supply nutrition to support the physiological and biomechanical processes of the human body. Although these products may also be suggested with a specific therapeutic purpose in mind, their use is chiefly designed to support given aspects of metabolic function. Use of nutritional supplements may be safely recommended for patients already using pharmaceutical medications (drugs), but some potentially harmful interactions may occur. For this reason, it is important to keep all of your healthcare providers fully informed about all medications, nutritional supplements, herbs, or hormones you may be taking.

You are under no obligation to purchase nutritional supplements at our clinic.

As a service to you, we make nutritional supplements available in our office. We purchase these products only from manufacturers who have gained our confidence through considerable research and experience. We determine quality by considering: (1) the quality of science behind the product; (2) the quality of the ingredients themselves; (3) the quality of the manufacturing process; and (4) the synergism among product components. The brands of supplements that we carry in our facility are those that meet our high standards and tend to produce predictable results.

While these supplements may come at a higher financial cost than those found on the shelves of pharmacies or health food stores, the value must also include assurance of their purity, quality, bioavailability (ability to be properly absorbed and utilized by the body), and effectiveness. The chief reason we make these products available is to ensure quality. You are not guaranteed the same level of quality when you purchase your supplements from the general marketplace. We are not suggesting that such products have no value; however, given the lack of stringent testing requirements for dietary supplements, product quality varies widely.

The purpose of functional medicine laboratory testing in our office is to evaluate nutritional, biochemical, or physiological imbalance and to determine any need for medical referral. These lab tests in our office are not intended to diagnose disease. This office utilizes conventional lab tests as well as functional medicine assessment.

Functional medicine assessment is designed to assist our doctors and other healthcare providers in finding the underlying causes of your condition. Functional medicine has evolved through the efforts of scientists and clinicians from the fields of clinical nutrition, molecular biology, biochemistry, physiology, conventional medicine, and a wide array of scientific disciplines. Functional medicine evaluates the body as a whole, with special attention to the relationship of one body system to another and the nutrient imbalances and toxic overload that may adversely affect these relationships.

Your medical physician may or may not agree with the necessity for—or our interpretation of—these tests. If you have any questions or concerns, please discuss them with our doctors.

My signature acknowledges I have read and understand the above.
